View Systems Announces Increasing Interest in the MINI Sim Cam and Details New Uses of the Product

BALTIMORE, March 3, 2010 (PR NEWSWIRE) -- View Systems, Inc. (OTCBB: VSYM), a security and tele-data solutions provider, announced today that multiple inquiries and comments have been submitted regarding the recent release of the MINI Sim Cam.

Investors and prospective customers have sent a plethora of emails containing questions and suggestions which will be taken into consideration.

The MINI, which stands for Mobile Intelligent Network Informer, is a wireless watchdog communication device that checks for intrusion into uninhabited areas like foreclosed houses, storage spaces, and vacation homes. It's a portable device that senses motion and sends text messages and pictures to a user's cell phone.

The MINI "do it yourself cellular surveillance system" is the ideal product for many different venues. In addition to the ones named above, View's team has come up with even more uses for the product. For instance, it can be used to monitor cars left at airports and boats that are docked at marinas. It can also be used as a baby cam, or to keep an eye on elderly loved ones. Some people might choose to use MINI to monitor their own homes while away for the weekend or on vacation. Stores and other retail sites may wish to use the MINI to aid in inventory control monitoring.

In short, the MINI is the right product at the right time. The product retails for $299.00 and can be purchased online by visiting www.minisimcam.com.

View Systems CEO, Gunther Than, states, "It seems as if each day, we come up with yet another use for this versatile product. Clearly, people are interested in learning more about the MINI and its capabilities. I'm looking forward to seeing what kind of impact we get from the Internet retail sales channels and TV / radio marketing."
